

Name	INDIA'S STOCK MARKET CRISIS
Author	Dr. L. C. Gupta
Year	1997

CONTENTS

Part One* MARKET BEHAVIOUR

1. TAMING A WILD MARKET
  - A problem of market behaviour
  - Euphoria-to-despondency cycles in India
  - Amplitude of change in the market's state
  - Problem not understood
  - Current P/E ratios lowest in 10 years
  - Abnormal market behaviour
  - Investors face alarming situation in India
  - Main areas for action
  - The point of view
  - Scope of study
2. PRACTICAL CONCEPTS REGARDING MARKET BEHAVIOUR
  - Relation between primary and secondary markets
  - Chain of causation
  - Intrinsic value concept
  - A behavioural problem
  - P/E ratio
  - Reference P/E ratio
  - Average of P/E ratios
  - Our method for computing "market P/E ratio"
  - The BSE P/E ratio series: comparability problem
3. THE P/E RATIO AND THE MARKET'S STATE, 1990-96
  - P/E ratio, 1990-96
  - Detailed periodwise analysis
  - 1994: A year of excessive boom
  - 1995: A year of market correction
  - 1996: A year of market depression
  - Price index alone can mislead
4. FACTORS UNDERLYING MARKET MOVEMENTS, 1994-96

Distinct phases
No single factor responsible
Phase I. Market Gets Over-heated
(January to Mid-September, 1994)
Phase 2. Market decline sets in (Mid-September 1994 to December 1995)
Phase 3. Weakening of economic confidence
(January-December 1996)
Corporate misgovernance raises public concern
Market ignores good economic fundamentals

Part Two     INVESTORS' ATTITUDES

- 5     RETAIL INVESTORS' CURRENT ATTITUDES
Background
Shared attitudes of urban investors
Survey methodology
Attitudes: how measured
Analysis of households' investment intentions
Analysis according to satisfactory/ unsatisfactory experience
Analysis by income-groups
Analysis by confidence levels
Summing up

Part Three     THE WAY OUT

- 6     SUGGESTED APPROACH TO THE PROBLEM
A Systemic problem
Vision of a healthy stock market
Areas for action
New issues vs. market purchases: Investors' attitude
Why retail investors avoid market purchases?
Secondary market's acute problems
Systemic failures
Insurance against systemic failures
Retail investors need regulated channels for trading
The effect of speculators' dominance
Short-selling
Rolling settlement needed
Top priority to investor protection